FAIRFIELD, IOWA

Is a city of over 6000 population in Iowa's world-famed corn belt; the richest agricultural and stock raising region of the Middle West where land sells for from $100 to $200 per acre. On two trunk-line railroads—C. B. & Q. and the Rock Island. Cheap coal in abundance. Best street paving, water, gas, electric lights and telephone systems; foundry and machine shops—ideal factory locations. Three banks in the city, several scattered through the county. Finest court house in Southern Iowa. Only Maleable Iron Works in the state, one of three west of the Mississippi. Farm Implement factory, Turney Wagon Works, Glove and Mitten factory and a dozen others. More wanted and will be encouraged.

It is conceded to be the first city in Iowa in culture, refinement, private and civic righteousness. It has 13 church edifices, each housing large congregations. Chautauqua Park of 30 acres with a permanent auditorium seating 4000 affords a delightful summer outing during the Assembly. In "Old Settlers' Park" stands the oldest house in Iowa. Visit Fairfield.

PARSONS COLLEGE

located here has an endowment of over a quarter of a million of dollars and a property investment of nearly $200,000. Five magnificent new buildings. Best gymnasium in the state under construction. Ideal athletic field. Winning athletic teams. Strong faculty. Exceptional science equipment. Absolutely ideal environment for young men and women. Healthful location. Unusual social advantages. Ballard Hall, the ladies dormitory and Foster Science hall are shown below.

IDEAL HOME

Fairfield is not only the best city in Iowa to raise and educate a family in; it is also a city in which your children can find remunerative employment. It is conceded to be the first city in Iowa in culture, refinement, private and civic righteousness. It has 13 church edifices, each housing large congregations. Chautauqua Park of 30 acres with a permanent auditorium seating 4000 affords a delightful summer outing during the Assembly. In "Old Settlers' Park" stands the oldest house in Iowa. Visit Fairfield.

Ballard Hall, the ladies dormitory and Foster Science hall are shown below.

EMMETSBURG

The liveliest, the most enterprising, the best business point between Cedar Rapids and Watertown, South Dakota, has a $50,000 Opera House, a $30,000 Court House, a $12,000 City Hall, a $50,000 Water Works system, including eight miles of water mains, a $35,000 Sewerage System, a $30,000 Electric Light plant, a $40,000 Brick and Tile Factory, a large Cement Manufacturing plant, two Marble Factories, one of which is the largest and best in Iowa, modern, well-equipped Flouring Mills, three splendid Banks, whose total deposits amount to $1,000,000, a $15,000 High School building and two Primary School buildings, a $10,000 Catholic Academy.

Two Catholic churches that cost $30,000 each, a $20,000 M. E. church, a $18,000 Congregational church, a substantial Episcopal church, a good Lutheran church, Masonic, Odd Fellows, G.A.R., K. of P., A. O. H., C. O. F., Red Men, and K. of C. halls, all the societies having auxiliaries for the ladies. A public library, three Newspapers, the only mutual Telephone System in Iowa—it gives the stockholders the lowest rate of any place in several states.

Two splendid Hotels, an excellent Creamery, two Automobile Garages, two of the best Clothing Stores in the northwest, a Steam Laundry, a second-class Post-office with total receipts of $9,500 per year, four Grain Elevators, a $30,000 armory building, an efficient Fire Department. Emmetsburg's actual indebtedness is less than $11,000. It has the lowest tax rate of any second-class city in Iowa. The county has no bonded or floating indebtedness. Emmetsburg wants more enterprises and offers them liberal inducements.

DECORAH, IOWA

The County Seat of Winneshiek County, a city of 1,000 inhabitants, is located on the Oneota river, and is situated in one of the richest farming communities and adjacent to some of the most beautiful natural scenery of any city in Iowa. It is the terminus of the Decorah branch of the C., M. & St. P. Ry., and Decorah branch of the C., M. & St. P. Ry., connecting at Calmar, 12 miles distant, with traffic for all points of the compass. The city has a magnificent water-works system, with reservoir 265 feet above the main street; a very efficient fire department, electric light system, many well paved streets, handsome residences, and substantial business blocks of fine appearance, showing signs of prosperity on every hand. Decorah has a new $175,000 court house, $75,000 hotel, $40,000 opera house and $35,000 high school, and has the best public improvements and utilities of any city of its size in the northwest. The press is represented by Decorah Posten, circulation 42,000 twice-a-week; Public Opinion, Republican, Journal and Lutheran Publishing House, with eight publications of large circulation. With four banks having assets of over $2,200,000, and large commercial houses doing a thriving business, it is the natural business center of the entire district. Churches of all denominations are to be found here, and the city is noted for its educational institutions, including high school, graded schools, Luther College, Valder College, Decorah Institute and parochial schools. Decorah is fast coming to the front.  Come and be convinced Head-quarters for the Rural Union Telephone Co., the Humboldt Bottling Works, a $10,000 Carnegie Library under course of construction, Humboldt College an old and well established institution, a $20,000 public school building thoroughly equipped throughout and six churches.

The town of Humboldt with its 2000 busy people is located at the junction of the M. & St. L. and C. & N. W. railroads and is afforded the best of transportation facilities for its large annual output.

Humboldt has a complete system of water works supplying the town with the purest of spring water, one of the best volunteer fire departments in the State, an abundance of water power for commercial purposes, and has easy access to an unlimited amount of the finest kind of building stone.

HUMBOLDT is the home of three prosperous banks with an aggregate capital of $200,000, a poultry establishment employing as high as one hundred and twenty-five men and doing a total $1,000,000 worth of business annually, The Humboldt Creamery Co. doing a wholesale creamery business on a large scale, two flouring mills, two cigar factories, the American Ditching Co., capitalized at $25,000, a modern cement block and tile factory, a twenty-four hour electric light service. Anyone desiring further information address Secretary of Commercial Club.

ELDON, IOWA

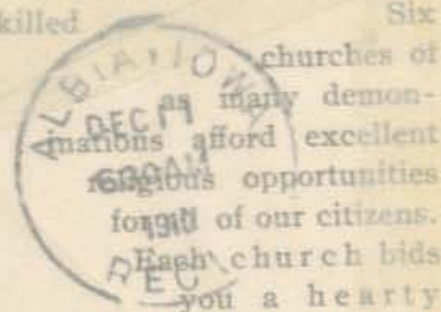

Our school system is unsurpassed in any town of its size in Iowa. We have the only accredited high school on the Des Moines river between Ottumwa and Keokuk.

Is one of the important railroad towns on the Rock Island System, being a junction and division point on the road. A round-house and machine shops employ many skilled mechanics, and the monthly payroll is about $45,000.00.

Six churches of many denominations afford excellent religious opportunities for all of our citizens. Each church bids you a hearty and brotherly welcome.

is a thriving city of 2500 in southern Iowa. It is the center of a rich coal mining, farming and fruit growing district. Beautifully located on the Des Moines river, it is a very desirable residence city. We have

By the way, we want you to know that Story City is one of the few towns in Iowa that has increased steadily in population—and is still growing. People like to live here because the town has all the modern improvements, splendid churches, accredited schools (with Normal and Manual Training Departments), well conducted entertainments and just the right sort of social doings. Believe you, too, will like Story City "The Justlers' Home."

and Catholic Churches. All here. No Saloons in County.

Osage is also gifted with many large manufacturing and mercantile companies, among which may be mentioned the J. B. Agen Cold Storage; J. G. Cherry Co., creamery supplies; The Osage Manufacturing Co., wood work; M. A. Gedney, pickle factory, and many others which might be mentioned if space permitted.

It can also boast of three fine hotels, several restaurants, two newspapers, namely: The Mitchell County Press, The Osage News, the Woolverton Printing Co., a fine water works plant, a well equipped electric light plant, a large and modern public library, an excellent opera house and William Wood's Hospital.

Beautiful Land,

Iowa has no better agricultural county within its borders than Mitchell County of which Osage is the county seat. It has two railroads, the Illinois Central and the Chicago Great Western. Population 3,000. Fine clothing, dry goods, grocery and general stores, implement houses, and thrifty intelligent people make Osage a delightful home town. All the leading civic and fraternal societies are flourishing.
